

What is your key takeaway from our discussion today?

The value of listening and also of silence. And learning more about trauma-informed practice (which I know very little about.

I really loved thinking about how to teach with principles of listening and opacity. Great discussion of these in here! Thanks everyone

Taking time to be thoughtful in our approaches.

The ally bill of responsibility shared by Janet Pivnick